of the most comical stories, amusing adventures, side-splitting jokes.

cheek-extending poetry, funny conundrums, queer sayings of Mrs

Partington, heart-rending puns, witty repartees, &c., &c.—the whole illustrated by One Hundred and Fifty Comic Wood Cuts.

This entertaining book is well printed on fine white paper, with an ornamental cover, designed by McLenan, at the amazingly low price of FIF1Y CENTS; bound in cloth, gilt, with tinted frontispiace by

Darley, SEVENTY-FIVE CENTS.

In offering this new book to be ability or most continuity.

Darley, SEVENT: FIVE CENTS.

In offering this new book to the public, we must caution all weakly and nervous people against buying it. It is only intended for those hearty and robust persons who can laugh long and loud, and grow fat, being a perfect encyclopedia of wit and witty sayings. To those foud of fun it will be a treasure.

Among the contents will be found: Mrs Partington Among the Elephants; The Old Lady is a Great Deal Better than could be Ex. preted: She gets Luminous; Her Idea of Animal Magnetism: The Widow Bedott's Musings; O, Squeene Me, Ephraim: A Sallor with too much Ballast; Mrs. Partington's Ideas on Love and Bables; Her Opinion of a Run Upon the Bank, of Blowing Great Guns, of Apple Sars, of Patent Elastic Trowsers, of Fast Gals, of Woman's Rights, of Spirit Rappings, of Needles, of Allopathy. Homeopathy, Hydropathy, &c. In fact, we have the old lady's opinions on all possible whiches, and it all shares, and like that of the formor lack ble subjects, and in all shapes; and like that of the ismous Jack Bunsby, here is "an optimion as is an optimion."

Besides the Partington Papers, this book contains an unlimited number of other sanny things, among which we notice: A Chapter on Kiesing; Seene in a Country School; The Dutchman's Escape A Fashionable Novel in Three Chapters; Making a Shift; Illinoi, Court Scene; Quaker Inspiration; Pat Too Much for the Yankee, A Nigger with Delirium-Tremendus; The Elephani's Key-hole Paddy on Bugs; A Public Tooth-Brush; Cuffee Astonishing the Natives; How Ike Biled Up the Cat: A Young Solomon on a Bust; How Pat Took his Cowid; Peter Tinker's Pirst Night of Married Life: The Bachelor', Misfortune who went a Courtin', &c. &c. Life: The Bachelor's Misfortune who went a Courtin', &c., &c.

To enumerate the ludierous, curious, sentimental, essential, witty pretty, funny and many Cuts, would consume too much space; however, any one of them is well worth the price of the whole book GARRETT & Co., Publishers

FACT VERSUS FICTION.

Just Ready,
THE "OLD BREWERY." NEW MISSION-HOUSE AT THE FIVE POINTS.

By Ladies of the Mission.

The deep interest exhibited by the public and the book-trade since the announcement of this truly-charming volume, is unparalleled in the history of literature. Already orders exhausting the entire First UNPRECEDENTED EDITION OF 20,000 COPIES have been RECEIVED IN ADVANCE. The publishers have felt con-strained to have Three Sets of Stereotype Piates cust, to enable them to supply the orders that are accumulating from all parts of the counto upply the orders that are accumulating from all parts of the country for this second "Uncle Ton's Cabin." Should this awakened interest to peruse the pages of this little history of reform keep growing with such intensity, FIFTY THOUSAND COPIES will have been purchased during the first month of publication. And as the entire profile of this work will be devoted in cancelling the large mortgage on the Mission-Heuse building, the heroic missionaries are already encouraged in the belief that it must soon become extinct-Sunge, indeed, should these wonderful incidents of the various phases of human wretchedness, so faithfully narrated by its humans surbors, furnish means whereby the large debt growing out of this benevolent undertaking should be paid. But the substantial aid already received in the extraordinary large number ordered in advance of the issue, assures the self-sacrificing members of the Ladies' Home Missianary Society that they will be cheerfully sustained, and that this TRUTHFUL RECORD of their doings, patronised by a sympathetic public, until it becomes as familiar as "household words" in every Christian family.

"The real charm, the true value of the book, will consist in the literal trainfolness of every story it contains. No touching detions will be found in its pages. The naked facts of some considerably drassed-up published stories are also given." [N. Y. Comm. Adv.

The work will be elegantly illustrated, beautifully printed, and nearly bound in muslin, price 75 cents; gift edges, #1.

Orders from the trade should be forwarded without delay to enable the publishers (after publication) to promptly supply the demand for the work, which must be more universally read than any other publication of the nineteenth century.
